

Acquisition of “Kurumin” Certification

Nakanishi Inc. (TSE: 7716, President and Group CEO: Eiichi Nakanishi, “NSK”) hereby announces that it has acquired “Kurumin” certification on December 12, 2025, which is granted by the Minister of Health, Labour and Welfare to companies that support childcare.

NSK places great importance on supporting the balance between work and childcare. It has already implemented childcare support for women, including a shortened working-hour system that exceeds statutory requirements. To promote diverse working styles, NSK also began initiatives to create an environment that encourages men to participate more actively in childcare. NSK introduced remote work, paid leave available in hourly increments, and childcare support leave, and proactively communicated these programs to male employees. As a result, the rate of paternity leave uptake among male employees has increased significantly. NSK will continue working to create a workplace where each employee can achieve both “ease of working” and “job satisfaction,” and where all individuals can stay motivated and build long-term careers.

About “Kurumin” Certification

“Kurumin” Certification is an official recognition granted by the Minister of Health, Labour and Welfare to companies that support childcare. Under the Act on Advancement of Measures to Support Raising Next-Generation Children, companies that formulate an action plan, achieve their goals, and meet certain established criteria can apply for and receive certification as a “childcare support company,” and are awarded the “Kurumin” Certification.
